

Architectural Antiques

Whether you admire the painstaking craftsmanship and patina, or simply want one-of-a-kind pieces, architectural antiques offer a fascinating way to distinguish your home or commercial project. Visit our showroom and you'll see ten foot tall painted doors from a building in France, a bronze and alabaster light, or massive zinc corbels from the exterior of a commercial building. You'll also find vintage materials transformed into new uses, like our mirrors made from antique tin ceiling tiles, or an iron balcony now available as a console base. Architectural antiques often have a beauty that cannot be reproduced, and are sure to make your space unique...come see how they can fit into your next project.
